Refined Reflections

Catherine Marrano Interiors, a luxury interior design firm, specializes in large home renovations and custom cabinetry, creating homes where architecture, lifestyle, and personal story meld together

For Catherine Marrano, every design is a story—a reflection of each client's past, present, and future. Through artful layering and curated aesthetics, the team designs a unique narrative for each space that is at once current, timeless, and entirely livable. By intermixing modern and vintage pieces, homes take on an eternal essence that feels cohesive yet evolved over time.

"We strive for quiet luxury," says Marrano. "Homes should feel soulful. These are timeless homes designed around the way families truly live."

Specializing in full-service luxury renovations and custom cabinetry, Catherine Marrano Interiors executes projects with fine-tuned precision. "Clients love our process," says Marrano. "They value our expertise and trust us to be their advocate from beginning to end."

It starts with understanding the client's "why"—a deep dive into their aesthetic goals and functionality needs. Then, design concepts are drafted and workshopped, from blueprints and floor plans to fabric swatches and paint samples. The firm astutely handles the execution: procurement, ordering, tracking, installation, and myriad other details along the way.

"We take the overwhelm out of large-scale projects. Clients are involved in key meetings, but we handle all the details so that they can stay focused on the things they love," says Marrano. "We take a lot of pride getting it right for the client, even when hiccups arise in the process."

When the final touches have been styled, Marrano says it's that "magic moment" of the client's first reveal that brings her the most joy. "The design is successful when it is more functional and emotionally resonant than they even imagined," she concludes. "It's that moment they exhale and think, 'This is my home.'"
